THE SERBIAN ARMY IS MASSING ON THE FRONTIER.

King Milan Marching With Infantry and Cavalry to Meet Them, and the Risk is at Hand—The Sultan Offers Up a Prayer—Foreign Affairs.

THE BALKAN PENINSULA AS IT IS NOW.

PIROT, Serbia via London, Oct. 27.—The Serbians are massing on the frontier in full force marching through this place. Some expect decisive action when King Milan arrives with more troops, both infantry and cavalry from Nissa. The king is evidently in earnest and an immediate crisis seems inevitable.

Wards of the Powers. VIENNA, Oct. 27.—Dispatches received from Constantinople indicate that England will take a decided stand against the position which it is understood will be taken by Germany, Austria and Russia. All the powers have accepted the port's invitation to attend a conference upon the Balkan question, and their representatives are all upon the ground. It is stated unequivocally that the representative of England has been instructed by his government to make a motion in the conference in favor of maintaining the union of Bulgaria and Roumelia effected under Prince Alexander, and he further declared that the representatives of France and Italy have been instructed by their governments to support England's motion.

The Emperor Francis Joseph made a speech in which he referred to the Eastern question before the delegations. This led to a partament composed of 130 members, one-half of whom are chosen by Austria and the other half by the other powers. The foreign relations of Austria are the most friendly nation. The recent meeting of the emperor at Kremsier, clearly indicated to an unprejudiced mind that the active and trustful relations of Russia, Germany and Austria still continue, which is a very important fact at this juncture for the peace of Europe. The powers who join us will maintain the legal status of the Balkan States guaranteed by the treaty of Berlin as a basis for securing peace in the future. The unanimity of the powers on this point is an important guarantee of the success of a peaceful solution of the Roumelian question. The signing of the treaty of Berlin, which was so unexpectedly violated by the Roumelian rising, endangering the peace and welfare of the people of the whole Balkan peninsula. Europe is divided with respect for the treaties of San Stefano and Berlin by the confidence which she has in the Balkan states independent political existence. Austria's first care is to maintain peace among the nations of the east and to protect the interests of her monarchy. Bulgaria and Herzegovina make steady progress in an industrial and economic sense and are liable to pay the costs of their own administration.

The situation in the Balkan states grows hourly more serious and turbulent. Between Belgrade, the capital of Serbia, and the great entrepot of the trade between Austria and Turkey, and Nissa, 133 miles distant, railway traffic is already entirely suspended. The Orient Express company, of Vienna, announces that it is compelled to cease this line of through tickets beyond Pesth, Hungary. Press correspondents who have been forced to leave Nissa report that the army contractors in Serbia are working night and day making uniforms.

Advices from Salonica state that a band of Bulgarian brigands recently attacked a Greek church in the Serre district, and carried off twelve of the worshippers, whom they still hold for redemption at heavy ransom.

The Situation.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 27.—William Hitchman and Newton Hyler were shot by Coyne. Hitchman is dangerously wounded while Hyler's wounds are not considered serious. Coyne had a difficulty a few days ago with a man named John Grimes and meeting Grimes at the saloon, the trouble was renewed. Both men drew revolvers and began firing. After firing one shot Grimes threw away his gun when he started to run, followed by Coyne who was intoxicated, firing his revolver in the street, wounding the two men mentioned who were in no way concerned in the difficulty.

Sine in a Row.

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—A car standing on a track at Oak Grove, Mass., was run into by Italian workmen from the edge of a passing car where the men were sitting, on their way to work on the New England railroad. One was killed outright, the others being all more or less injured. The men were known by numbers and no names are given.

Step out.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 27.—Judge Buchwalter, in a decision an hour ago, just refused to dissolve the temporary restraining order forbidding Clerk DeLong to issue certificates of election to the Democratic senators, and has continued the temporary restraining order in full force till the clerk complies with the decision.

Chas. Trexel, a butcher, of Delaware, O., in a fit of jealousy, attacked his neighbor with a knife with the intention of killing him, but fortunately was knocked down.

the effect that the conference of the powers was to hold its first meeting, are premature. It is expected, however, that the conference will meet very shortly. The sultan does not relish the idea of the conference. He remarked to the grand vizier to the mosque: "No conference yet has ever resulted in anything but injury to Turkey. I wish. May God grant that this conference may prove an exception."

Not only the sultan but all the ministers and functionaries of the palace are opposed to the conference. But the German ambassador acting under Prince Bismarck, has used such pressure that the port has not only been obliged to consent, but even to take the initiative.

Military preparations are still being pushed on vigorously. The Turks have just signed a contract to purchase a large number of Krupp's torpedoes, a German type of the white-heads, and also electric lights. The Russian ambassador is constantly plotting about the sultan's palace, and the very best understanding seems to prevail between him and the sultan. It is generally believed that the case of Russia is fairly certain to win the day. The occupation of Eastern Roumelia if the incorporation of the latter province with Bulgaria can be prevented in any other way.

Important communications have passed between the sultan and King Milan. It is quite generally believed that the case of Russia is fairly certain to win the day. The occupation of Eastern Roumelia if the incorporation of the latter province with Bulgaria can be prevented in any other way.

A diplomat who has just arrived here from Athens gives most exact hopes of peace being preserved in the Balkan question. The excitement is so great among the Greek people that it is expected daily that the government will have other choice than to enter Macedonia or to see itself swept away.

The Steel Case.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The trial of Mr. Stead, of the Pall Mall Gazette, and the others charged with the abduction of the girl Eliza Armstrong, was resumed at the Central Criminal court before a large crowd. Several witnesses were examined but nothing of interest occurred until Mr. Broughton, who it is alleged, conducted the sale of the girl with her mother, was called to the stand. In the course of his testimony he repeatedly contradicted statements made by her and Mr. Armstrong at their preliminary examination on several points. She wept, and said that Mr. Armstrong, the girl's mother, had asked her to be the character of Mrs. Jarrett, when she was negotiating with the father for the girl's services. She said that Mrs. Jarrett had asked her to be the character of Mrs. Jarrett, when she was negotiating with the father for the girl's services. In Behalf of Kiel.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—A committee of the sympathizers with Louis Riel, the condemned leader of the recent Half-Breed rebellion in Canada, has issued an urgent appeal for help in obtaining a commutation of the previous sentence. The committee in their appeal says that the case for Riel is a very short one, and immediate steps should be taken with a view of obtaining the result aimed at. A memorial to the queen, her majesty or emperor of Russia has almost been completed, and a public meeting of his sympathizers is being arranged.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The war office has ordered the immediate dispatch of the executive force corps A to the port of Borneo, outgating King Lewis of Borneo.

PROHIBITION.

The Cold Water Party Holds the Balance of Power in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—The Democratic and Republican losses and prohibition gains in October, 1885, as compared with October, 1884, are shown by the following figures: The vote for prohibition in 1884, as compared with 1885, was 10,424, drawn from the two parties and helping to swell their losses. The Democratic and Republican losses in 1885, as compared with 1884, were 10,424, drawn from the two parties and helping to swell their losses. The Democratic and Republican losses in 1885, as compared with 1884, were 10,424, drawn from the two parties and helping to swell their losses.

An intelligent inspection of the above will show that the prohibitionists drew their increased vote almost equally from the two parties. Where either fell off heavily the prohibitionists gained most largely. These figures also show that the prohibitionists hold the balance of power in the state.

WILD BULL MOVEMENT.

THE MARKET RUNS AWAY AND PUZZLES THEM ALL.

It Assumes the Nature of an Epidemic With the Exception of a Few Isolated Cases—$800,000,000 for Corn—Revival of Speculation—Buckeye.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The stock market is in a condition when puzzle, even the oldest and most experienced veterans. When men like Gould, Cramer, Cammick, Washburn and a few minor stars of the Wall street, Brunner, are asked to acknowledge that the market ran away from them, it is no use for petty brokers and speculators to attempt to argue out the existing state of affairs. A few more savage bulls have been expected a reaction for several weeks past. In not only have been clamored for, but saying the reaction must be opened. But the reaction does not come. A plunge of one or two points or possibly five points is a mere trifle. The market is all at a new advance with all the indications of a general rise in the stock market. Except in a few isolated cases it would be impossible to point out any adequate reason for the tremendous advance which has taken place in this or that stock. It is evident that the movement partakes of an epidemic nature. It was started last summer by the sheer success of bankers and railroad presidents to do something in the direction of restoring the credit of American corporations. It was sustained by the accumulation of idle capital. It is now sustained by the return of the market and the order of the day throughout the continent for the last three years. But few people have probably been thought of what such a rise in the stock market means when the totals come to be figured out.

Suppose there is one cent saved in the daily expenses of every man, woman and child in the union. This is certainly not a high estimate, but it would mean a yearly saving of $300 a head, or $30,700,000,000. In a three years or so, this would mean a total of $92,100,000,000 would be obtained. This money has to go into something, never mind whether it is to be into drugs, agricultural implements, chaises or stocks and bonds. While it has been saved, the earning capacities of the country have not decreased. On the contrary, they steadily increased for our crops were abundant, and although the country exported less, it developed the internal resources by a steady building up of new settlements and developing of wild territories. It is thus increasing the aggregate wealth of the country.

The corn crop alone, amounting, as it will this autumn, to the general total of $400,000,000,000 would be spent or invested. As far as the property of the country is concerned, it is a matter of indifference whether it is to be into the stomachs of horses and cattle, into agricultural implements, or into the pockets of farmers, families, or the shares and bonds of the rail road running through the farm. The country has more than enough to go on, and it is not a question of whether it is to be into the stomachs of horses and cattle, into agricultural implements, or into the pockets of farmers, families, or the shares and bonds of the rail road running through the farm.

It is this economizing and steady making of money which forms the basis of the remarkably changed the general tone of the business and speculative community. People feel that they are better off and that they can afford to be more conservative. Others again who do not work, live on invested capital and who, of late have been keeping it idle, have been urged to get out of the country and into the field of speculation and investment purchases.

This seems to be the most plausible general view to take of the existing state of financial affairs throughout the country. Wall street was of course first to take advantage of the situation and it is now running the deal on its own hook, independent of all the warnings that the country at large seems to send it to the tune of "Beware of the bull."

It is a curious thing to note that the men who started the upward movement in July last and the thousands of financial investors who have since then poured in their money to buy the stock market, are now finding it difficult to get out of the market and are creating another panic.

The market thus guarantees that the high priced stocks will not be offered for sale and that therefore the general list cannot go much lower and, this encourages the minor speculators to take up cheap fancy stocks, and to put them on as after another. The recent movements in Erie, O. & N. Y., and in the Texas, Pacific, Alton & Terre Haute, and several others are sufficient illustrations of the sourest and most unbusinesslike speculation.

Nous of the country have shown of late any extraordinary improvement in its business, yet the stock market has advanced from 10 to twenty points and all the leading broker offices are full of outside customers rushing in with points to buy this or that stock. The price of the price of which ranges all the way from $1 to $20 a share. After they have given their order to buy the particular stock they seem them sit down in a rocking chair with a copy of the Manual of Statistics trying to figure out what sort of strategy they have been investing in. When a movement of this kind sets in, nothing can stop it until it exhausts itself from natural causes or of which at present there is not yet any indication. The argument that the bank reserve begins to decrease, that an advance in the rate for money is likely to be made, that much will be for the customer has to pay 6 per cent for carrying his stocks, however cheap the broker may borrow money from the banks. The interest on the bank's account is a very effective item of the broker's office, but the customer can at present not do otherwise than submit to it and as long as his purchases show him a profit he does not care much either about the carrying charges or the commission. He takes the same view of them which he does of the same percentage at roulette or the "kitty" contribution at poker.

Among the bull predictions for this week is an advance in St. Paul, in Erie second, in Erie common, in Western Union and in a new dividend bearing the name of Iowa Central. The promised advance in Erie stock and bonds is shrouded in mystery, for have already had a considerable rise, which no new developments have developments justified. The St. Paul stands firmly on its legs, for it shows an immense advance in the earnings for the three weeks of this month, and according to the statements of its officers it is making something like 1 per cent a month upon its stock. Apart from this, the stock is so firmly held by Armour and the Chicago clique that there is very little danger of its being allowed to go down.

Western Union is in a much less safe position. It has advanced in spite of very unfavorable rumors in regard to the completion of the Baltimore & Ohio. But it is said "Bob" Garrett and his friends are quietly buying the stock and that this presages an ultimate combination of the same kind with the Western Union.

The new wild cat, the Iowa Central, there is not much to say, except that some Boston people seem to have taken hold of it, and that there is a scheme on foot to take the past due coupons on its bonds, and to pay off the floating debt. Whatever men of a speculative turn of mind want to do, they will try to get along from the high priced trunk lines like New York Central, Lake Shore & West Shore, Erie, Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis. All of them are high enough, and even if the pool business is arranged in the best possible way, expected to yield at least a year for these roads to show the benefits accruing from the new state of affairs and the power maintaining them.

It would also be prudent on the part of speculators not to touch stocks like the Louisville & Nashville, the Louisville & Nashville & Nashville, and since the collapse of George L. Rye there is nobody to take care of it. It is a pity that Mrs. Hattie Green will probably soon get tired of carrying her heavy Louisville & Nashville load.

Another Torpedo.

He fell from his horse mortally wounded and the hunters boarded their wagon and started for Toledo, leaving the wounded man lying in the woods.
